

Goundi

A different kind of holiday

by Isabel Rodríguez

GOUNDI

A DIFFERENT KIND OF HOLIDAY

BY ISABEL RODRIGUEZ

208 pages

32 pages with colour photographs

Communication

■ 72 comments by website readers

SYNOPSIS

A trip to subsaharan Africa. An adventure in which the author describes the day to day reality of a country as complex as Chad, a place where no moderation is possible; or you get hooked or you are thrown out.

Isabel Rodríguez tells her adventure from her first visit to Chad until she developed, along with her husband, a sanitary mission which included the training of healthcare workers of the same country. A moving, passionate and revealing tale.

More information: www.misionydesarrolloparagoundi.com

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Isabel Rodríguez (Barcelona, 1949) has worked as a photographer for many years. In 1992 she got a nursing diploma, with the aim of co-operating with her husband, a surgeon, in different developing countries, in particular Chad.

Since 2003 she has been Vice-president of the Development and Mission Association for Goundi.